THE WAR IN CUBA

REVIEW OF ITS INCEPTION, PROGRESS AND PRINCIPAL EVENTS.

A Steady Growth of the Revolution—Important Results if United States Accords Belligerent Rights.

Both Factors Must be Fairly Dealt With

New York, Mar. 10.—It was on the 22d of February last year that the State Department at Washington received a dispatch from the American consul at Santiago de Cuba conveying the information that Cuba was in rebellion. The Spanish government became alarmed, sent a naval force to Cuba, and the rebels were soon defeated. Thus things stood, or rather moved, in the opening days of April last.

At the same time the Spanish Government became alarmed, sent a naval force to Cuba, and the rebels were soon defeated. Thus things stood, or rather moved, in the opening days of April last.

It was well known in April when the Spanish force was sent to Cuba that the rebels were welcomed with arms of artillery from all the forts and from the fleet.

He surveyed the situation, got his army ready for action, strengthened his lines, and sent a large body of volunteers into his service, and issued a proclamation ordering the rebels to lay down their arms, submit to his government, and be allowed to return to their homes as he had done.

It is only a brief record of the year's events that the Spanish army has been in Cuba, and the rebels have been in arms.
